About the Choir

The Anschutz Campus Choir began as a student organization through the School of Medicine in 2005 and was known as the "Arrhythmias." The choir expanded to include students, faculty and staff from all campus programs and institutions as well as community members. The choir was recognized by the Student Senate as an Outstanding Student Organization in 2011 and has been featured in campus publications as well as The Aurora Sentinel and The Denver Post. In 2016, the choir forged a relationship with the Choral Department at CU Boulder as part of the Music and Medicine Initiative (MAMI). The choir is now directed by Jackie Pennell who completed her graduate studies at CU Boulder.
